

Do you have grandparents with odd talents, unusual habits . . .
peculiar grins?

Don't be fooled!
Grampires are hiding in plain sight,
cleverly concealed as average, everyday grandparents.

They play competitive games like bat-minton.

They enjoy baked goods they can really sink their teeth into.

They plant their succulent gardens by the light of a full moon.

They're always cold.
