ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book could not have been written without the help of many people. A few people, however, deserve special attention. First of all, the editors want to thank the other authors who contributed to the book, Dr Jeroen Blomsma, Dr Jacques Claessen and Dr Christina Peristeridou, who also kindly commented on draft versions of the chapters. We would also like to thank Prof. André Klip and the many students who commented on earlier versions of the text.

We would also like to thank the department of criminal law at Maastricht University for creating a very enjoyable working atmosphere which helped a lot in making this book possible.

We would also like to acknowledge the great co-operation with Hans Kluwer of Intersentia Publishers, who was willing to publish this handbook and gave invaluable advice that enabled us to write the book we wanted.

The originally idea for this handbook goes back to a common plan of Dr Peter Bal and Dr David Roef made in 2010. Unfortunately Peter could no longer contribute to the book, nor witness the writing of it, as a few months later he suddenly passed away while teaching at the University of Bali (Indonesia). It is with great gratitude (and many beautiful memories) that we would like to acknowledge the important role Peter played before and while writing this book.
