ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book contains a selection of papers that were presented during the multidisciplinary conference ‘Denialism and Human Rights’. This conference was organised by the Maastricht Centre for Human Rights on 22 and 23 January 2015. All the participants we spoke to afterwards emphasised that they had enjoyed the pleasant academic atmosphere, the debates, and the high quality of the presentations. Their enthusiasm reinforced our intention to bring the most interesting papers together in a book.

The conference could not have been organised without the financial support of a number of institutions. We are indebted to the Maastricht Centre for Human Rights, the Research Fund of the Maastricht Faculty of Law, the Limburg University Fund/SWOL, the Netherlands Organisation for Scientific Research (NWO), and Studium Generale for their donations.

The organisational support of Chantal Kuypers and Khalidah Ahmadi during the conference was invaluable. Khalidah was also a great help to us throughout the whole preparation period. We also want to thank Julie Peeters for her assistance in providing the layout for this book.

What we hoped to achieve with the conference was a reflection on denialism and human rights from a variety of angles and disciplines, and, additionally, to stress the relevance of the concept of denial to the contemporary debate on human rights issues. Without doubt, thanks to the contributions of the speakers and participants the conference served these purposes. This book elaborates on the central theme of the conference, and, hopefully, will further enhance the debate on denialism and human rights.
