

Once every year, a celebration takes place,
a day of fun and games — there's even a race!

“Come one, come all; come have a go,
come and take part in the Great Forest Show!”

Sloth loved the Show; it was his favourite day. He was determined to take part, in his own special way. With prizes to be won, for a talented few, was there anything special that a Sloth could do? Sloth looked to those who he most admired, to help find himself and be inspired.

“I must be good at something,” Sloth believed in his heart, and so he went in search for a way to take part.

“Hey Jaguar,” said Sloth. “Can I ask you a question, what do you believe it is that makes you so special?”
