

REDUCED TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORD AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	XV
Ellen Vos and Frank Wendler
LIST OF AUTHORS	XIX
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	XXIII
CHAPTER 1. THE SCIENTIFIC APPROACH TO COMPARING INSTITUTIONAL RE-ARRANGEMENTS IN EUROPEAN FOOD SAFETY GOVERNANCE.....	1
Marion Dreyer and Ortwin Renn
CHAPTER 2. INSTITUTIONAL RE-ARRANGEMENTS IN EUROPEAN FOOD SAFETY GOVERNANCE: A COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS.....	9
Marion Dreyer, Ortwin Renn, Karin Borkhart and Julia Ortleb
CHAPTER 3. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION AT THE EU LEVEL	65
Ellen Vos and Frank Wendler
CHAPTER 4. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN THE UK	139
Charlotte Yapp
CHAPTER 5. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN FRANCE.....	217
Claire Mays, Mathieu Jahnich and Marc Poumadère
CHAPTER 6. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN GERMANY	287
Kerstin Dressel, Stefan Bösch, Michael Schneider, Willy Viehöver, Monika Wastian and Frank Wendler

CHAPTER 7. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN SWEDEN	331
Celio Ferreira, Åsa Boholm and Karin Borkhart
CHAPTER 8. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN HUNGARY.....	383
Zoltán Ferencz, Mariann Hajdu and Anna Vári
BIBLIOGRAPHY	453

TABLE OF CONTENTS

REDUCED TABLE OF CONTENTS	V
FOREWORD AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	XV
Ellen Vos and Frank Wendler
LIST OF AUTHORS	XIX
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS	XXIII
CHAPTER 1. THE SCIENTIFIC APPROACH TO COMPARING INSTITUTIONAL RE-ARRANGEMENTS IN EUROPEAN FOOD SAFETY GOVERNANCE.....	1
Marion Dreyer and Ortwin Renn
1. Introduction	1
2. Research Background and Objectives.....	1
3. Methods and Analytical Focus	3
4. Conceptual Clarifications: Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity as Key Challenges	5
CHAPTER 2. INSTITUTIONAL RE-ARRANGEMENTS IN EUROPEAN FOOD SAFETY GOVERNANCE: A COMPARATIVE ANALYSIS.....	9
Marion Dreyer, Ortwin Renn, Karin Borkhart and Julia Ortleb
1. Introduction	9
2. Allocation of Responsibilities for Risk Assessment and Risk Management	11
2.1. Division of Responsibilities at the Institutional Level in the EU, France and Germany	12
2.2. Division of Responsibilities (Sweden) and Functions (UK) as Part of a Structurally more Integrated Approach to Risk Analysis.....	19

2.2.1.	Functional Separation in the UK	20
2.2.2.	Intra-organisational Division of Labour in Sweden	22
2.3.	Fragmented, Integrated and Overlapping Responsibilities in Hungary ..	23
2.4.	Separation as an 'Ideal Type': Loose Coupling of Structure, Policies and Practice	24
2.4.1.	Between Science and Policy: Blurring of Boundaries in Risk Assessment	25
2.4.2.	Restricted Interaction between Assessors and Managers in the Systems of Institutional Divide.....	27
2.4.3.	Experiencing of Critical Interfaces	29
3.	Incorporation of Democratic Norms in the Risk Analysis Process.....	30
3.1.	Commitments to Transparency, Involvement and Information in the Regulatory Systems Oriented towards Trust-building	32
3.1.1.	Public Documentation of Outcomes and Procedures.....	34
3.1.2.	Involving the Public and Civil Society Actors.....	36
3.1.3.	Informing Consumers on Risk and Risk Handling.....	40
3.2.	Taking Transparency in a High-trust Regulatory System for Granted.....	41
3.3.	Low Transparency in a Transformation Country with Strong Paternalistic Tradition.....	44
4.	Attention to Scientific Uncertainties	45
4.1.	Heightened Sensitivity to Complex and Uncertain Risks.....	46
4.2.	Endorsement of the Precautionary Principle.....	48
5.	Discussion and Major Conclusions	51
5.1.	Framing and Evaluation: Potential 'Mediators' between Assessment and Management	59
5.2.	The Under-defined Function of Stakeholder Involvement in Risk Assessment	62
5.3.	The Neglected Challenge of Value-based Conflicts.....	63
CHAPTER 3. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION AT THE EU LEVEL		65
Ellen Vos and Frank Wendler
1.	Introduction	65
2.	Scope and Reasons for Institutional Change of EU Food Safety Regulation	66

3.	The Institutional Framework of EU Food Safety Regulation From the Year 2002.....	72
3.1.	Risk Assessment	74
3.1.1.	EFSA: the EU's Recipe for Food Safety and Consumer Confidence.....	74
3.1.1.1.	Tasks.....	74
3.1.1.2.	Organisational Structure	76
3.1.1.3.	Evaluation of EFSA	81
3.1.2.	Joint Research Centre and Community Reference Laboratories.....	82
3.1.3.	Early Warning and Priority Setting	84
3.1.4.	Harmonisation of Approaches to Risk Assessment.....	85
3.1.5.	Member State Role in Risk Assessment.....	87
3.2.	Risk Evaluation and Management	87
3.2.1.	Actors of Risk Management: the European Commission and the SCFCAH	88
3.2.2.	Stakeholder Involvement: the Advisory Group on the Food Chain and Animal and Plant Health.....	90
3.2.3.	Rapid Alert System, Emergency Measures and Crisis Management	91
3.3.	Risk Communication	93
3.4.	Interaction of National, European and International Level.....	94
3.5.	Confidence and Trust in Regulatory Institutions.....	96
4.	Good Governance: Excellence, Independence, Transparency, Participation and Accountability	98
4.1.	Excellence and Independence	99
4.2.	Transparency, Participation, Accountability	102
4.3.	Independency, Transparency and Participation with Regard to GMO Approval Procedures	109
5.	Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	110
5.1.	Handling of Complexity	110
5.2.	Handling of Uncertainty	112
5.3.	Handling of Ambiguity	114
6.	Food Safety Regulation in Practice.....	116
6.1.	General Perspectives on the Strengths and Weaknesses of the Current System of Food Safety Regulation.....	117
6.2.	Interaction between Risk Assessment and Risk Management: about the Blind Driver and the Passenger	119
6.3.	Perspectives on EFSA.....	122
6.4.	Good Governance: Transparency and Participation	123
6.5.	Handling of Uncertainty and the Precautionary principle	126
6.6.	Interaction of the National, European and International Level	128
6.7.	Comitology	129
7.	Conclusions	131

CHAPTER 4. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN THE UK	139
Charlotte Yapp
1. Introduction	139
2. Scope and Reasons for Institutional Change of Food Safety Regulation	140
2.1. Institutional Changes	141
2.2. Policy Changes.....	142
2.3. Regulatory Changes	144
2.4. Changes in Cross-cutting Elements	147
3. The Institutional Framework of UK Food Safety Regulation	149
3.1. Risk Assessment	154
3.2. Risk Management	160
3.3. Risk Communication	165
3.4. Interaction at National, European and International Level.....	171
3.5. Confidence and Trust in Regulatory Institutions.....	173
4. Excellence, Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	175
4.1. Excellence and Independence	178
4.2. Transparency, Participation, Accountability	179
5. Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	181
5.1. Handling of Complexity	182
5.2. Handling of Uncertainty	183
5.3. Handling of Ambiguity	185
6. Food Safety Regulation in Practice.....	186
6.1. Perspectives of Policy-Actors on Institutional Arrangements and Dynamics	186
6.2. Structure of Risk Analysis: Risk Assessment, Risk Management and Risk Communication	189
6.3. Regulatory Policies and Concepts.....	192
6.4. Good Governance: Excellence, Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	197
6.5. Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	201
6.6. Interaction of the National, European and International Level	210
6.7. Lessons learnt.....	211
7. Conclusion.....	211

CHAPTER 5. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN FRANCE.....	217
Claire Mays, Mathieu Jahnich and Marc Poumadère
1. Introduction	217
2. Scope and Reasons for Institutional Change of Food Safety Regulation in France	219
3. The Institutional Framework of France’s Food Safety Regulation	222
3.1. Risk Assessment	225
3.2. Risk Management	228
3.3. Risk Communication	230
3.3.1. Internal Communication: Referral Process	231
3.3.2. Internal Communication: Network Exchanges	233
3.3.3. External Communication: Information, Dialogue, Participation	235
3.4. Interaction of National, European and International Level.....	236
3.5. Confidence and Trust in Regulatory Institutions.....	238
4. Good Governance: Excellence, Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	240
4.1. Excellence and Independence	240
4.2. Independence.....	242
4.3. Transparency, Participation, Accountability	243
4.4. Risk Evaluation.....	244
4.5. Participation	245
5. Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	246
5.1. Handling of Complexity	246
5.2. Handling of Uncertainty	249
5.3. Handling of Ambiguity	253
6. Food Safety Regulation in Practice.....	257
6.1. Perspectives of Policy Actors on Institutional Arrangements and Dynamics	257
6.2. Structure of Risk Analysis (Risk Assessment, Risk Management and Risk Communication)	262
6.3. Regulatory Policies and Concepts.....	267
6.4. Good Governance: Excellence, Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	272
6.4.1. Excellence in Risk Assessment.....	273
6.4.2. Transparency.....	275
6.4.3. Independence.....	275
6.4.4. Stakeholder Participation	277
6.5. Interaction of the National, European and International Level	278
7. Conclusions	280

CHAPTER 6. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN GERMANY	287
Kerstin Dressel, Stefan Bösch, Michael Schneider, Willy Viehöver, Monika Wastian and Frank Wendler
1. Introduction	287
2. Scope and Reasons for Institutional Change of Food Safety Regulation in Germany	288
3. The Institutional Framework of German Food Safety Regulation.....	290
3.1. Risk Assessment	292
3.2. Risk Management	295
3.3. Risk Communication	301
3.4. Interaction of National, European and International Level.....	305
3.5. Confidence and Trust in Regulatory Institutions.....	307
4. Good Governance: Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	308
4.1. Independence.....	309
4.2. Transparency.....	310
4.3. Participation	310
4.4. Accountability	311
5. Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	311
5.1. Handling of Complexity	311
5.2. Handling of Uncertainty	313
5.3. Handling of Ambiguity	314
6. Food Safety Regulation in Practice.....	314
6.1. Perspectives of Policy-actors on Institutional Arrangements and Dynamics	314
6.2. Structure of Risk Analysis (Risk Assessment, Risk Management and Risk Communication)	317
6.3. Regulatory Policies and Concepts.....	320
6.4. Good Governance: Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	321
6.5. Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	325
6.6. Interaction of the National, European and International Level	327
7. Conclusions	328

CHAPTER 7. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN SWEDEN	331
Celio Ferreira, Åsa Boholm and Karin Borkhart
1. Introduction	331
2. Scope and Reasons for Changes in Food Safety Regulation.....	333
3. The Institutional Framework of Swedish Food Regulation.....	334
3.1. Risk Assessment	340
3.2. Risk Management.....	344
3.3. Risk Communication	346
3.4. Interaction between National, European and International Regulation.	349
3.5. Confidence and Trust in Regulatory Institutions.....	351
4. Principles of Good Governance.....	352
4.1. Excellence and Independence.....	352
4.2. Transparency, Participation and Accountability	353
5. Food Safety Regulation in Practice.....	356
5.1. Institutional Arrangements and Dynamics.....	356
5.2. Regulatory Policies and Concepts.....	358
5.3. Process of Regulation.....	359
5.4. Structure of Risk Analysis	367
5.5. Governance	371
5.6. Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	373
5.7. Interaction of National, European and International Level.....	378
5.8. Lessons learnt.....	379
6. Conclusions	380
CHAPTER 8. FOOD SAFETY REGULATION IN HUNGARY.....	383
Zoltán Ferencz, Mariann Hajdu and Anna Vári
1. Introduction	383
2. Scope and Reasons for Institutional Change of Food Safety Regulation in Hungary	384
3. The Institutional Framework of Hungarian Food Safety Regulation.....	390
3.1. Risk Assessment	392
3.2. Risk Management.....	393
3.3. Risk Communication	405
3.4. Interaction of National, European and International Level.....	410
3.5. Confidence and Trust in Regulatory Institutions.....	412

4.	Good Governance: Excellence, Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	413
5.	Handling of Uncertainty and Ambiguity	417
5.1.	Handling of Uncertainty	417
5.2.	Handling of Ambiguity	418
6.	Food Safety Regulation in Practice.....	419
6.1.	Perspectives of Policy-Actors on Institutional Arrangements and Dynamics	419
6.1.1.	General Views	419
6.1.2.	Case Specific Views	421
6.2.	Structure of Risk Analysis	424
6.2.1.	General Views	424
6.2.2.	Case Specific Views	429
6.3.	Regulatory Policies and Concepts.....	434
6.3.1.	General Views	434
6.3.2.	Case Specific Views	435
6.4.	Good Governance: Excellence, Independence, Transparency, Participation, Accountability	439
6.5.	Handling of Complexity, Uncertainty and Ambiguity	441
6.5.1.	General Views	441
6.5.2.	Case Specific Views	442
6.6.	Interaction between National, EU and International Regulation	444
6.6.1.	General Views	444
6.6.2.	Case Specific Views	445
7.	Conclusions	446
Annex	451
BIBLIOGRAPHY		453
IUS COMMUNE EUROPAEUM		469