

The prince was taught to be a king
The princess was taught to be a queen

Together they had a little prince and a little princess.
The prince and princess lived happily ever after.....