Introduction

Welcome to the world of United Survivors Heroically Intense.

In this ninth poem book by the Editor USHI you will find a mixture of all sorts. It is not only poetry that will meet your eyes here, it is not only charming empowerment that you will read there. It contains a diversity of heart rendering outlets to try and stay aloof amidst a thunderous storm to be fathomed by USHI as WAR DECLARED ON THEM TO CAST THEM OUT AND RUIN EVERYTHING THEY SO MUCH WANT(ED) TO ACHIEVE.

If you open your mind to the suffering of a chronically traumatized individual, then you will read between the lines, that he/she does this to empower other survivors. That and only that is the aim of this material.

By the time this poem collection will be published, USHI's 3rd poem collection 'Last Love Last' will be out of private publication, for the incredible reason that this poem book is on its way to be published by Austin Macauley. As you may reckon, this was a great step forward for USHI in their work and fight for human rights both for children and adults, and especially for the awareness that children should ALWAYS be treated like CHILDREN!!!

All we can do here is wish you a wonderful journey, hoping that you will enjoy it!

Complete Withdrawal

Synthesize the many hovering
Recovering
Catch the many tantalizing
Harmonizing
Put in motion all the charming
Dramatizing characters

And shape them into beings
Without any reference
Without a background
Only for an internal audience
Only for those whom they belong to
And uphold them
As intrinsic parts of
A wonderful inner world
Restoring and hungering
For fresh crispy material
To constantly amaze each other
With new scenes and plots
And never grow tired
Of the wonders of our resources
That flow and undergo modifications
And adjust and grow stronger
And forever to continue our fight
For a better Outside World
Knowing that that will never be
